Tourists Safely Reach Port in New York After Eventful Voyage

MANY HAD TALES OF PRIVATIONS IN EUROPE

EVERY CABIN OCCUPIED

Crackle of Wireless From Warships Frequently Heard On Board Taormina—French Liner to Sail Today With Many Reservists On Board—Other Ships Reporting.

(Associated Press Telegram) New York, Aug. 26.—With every cabin occupied by homecoming Americans and with sixty-seven weary American tourists in the steerage, the Italian steamer Taormina reached port today from Genoa, Palermo and Naples, after an eventful voyage. Seven hundred and sixty-eight passengers were aboard, nearly all, with tales of hardships endured in Europe.

The Taormina sailed from Naples on August 14. Sailing through the strait of Gibraltar she was stopped by British warships and held up some little time before she was permitted to proceed. The homecoming Americans which she carried were all from Italy and Switzerland. The crackle of wireless from warships was heard frequently during the voyage across the Atlantic and yesterday the ship passed three British cruisers between Nantucket and Fire Island.

The chief hardship of Americans in Italy, the Taormina's passengers said was their inability to get checks cashed. There also was difficulty in getting railway accommodations from the interior to seaports, nearly all trains in Italy being crowded with natives returning home from the European countries. Some of the passengers were inclined to be bitter in their attitude toward American consular agents in Italy for alleged lack of attention to the plight of stranded Americans there.

Hotels in Italy, it is said, were housing all Americans possible and extending credit to them. The consulates had long lists of American names, there being more than 2500 Americans registered at the American embassy in Rome alone.

The Quebec line steamer Korona reached port this morning from the British West Indies. She sighted no war vessels during the voyage. Her officers said there was a French cruiser at St. Lucia, where they left August 16.

The steamer France of the French line was due to sail today for Havre with many French reservists aboard. Other vessels with announced sailings today were the St. Louis of the American line and the Campania of the Cunard line, both of Liverpool.

BOMBS

Dropped Upon Civilized Community in Dead of Night

IS A VIOLATION OF THE HAGUE CONVENTION PROVISION

BELGIANS MAY PROTEST

The Zeppelin Airship Incident Promises to Become of Widest International Interest—Number of Dead Unknown—Bombs Nearly All Aimed at Public Buildings.

(Associated Press Telegram) London, Aug. 26.—7:15 A. M.—The bomb dropping exploit of the Zeppelin airship at Antwerp, promises to become a matter of the widest international consideration. The Belgian authorities claim that the attack was a clear violation of article 26 of the fourth Hague convention, and they are preparing to protest officially to all the powers against this manner of warfare.

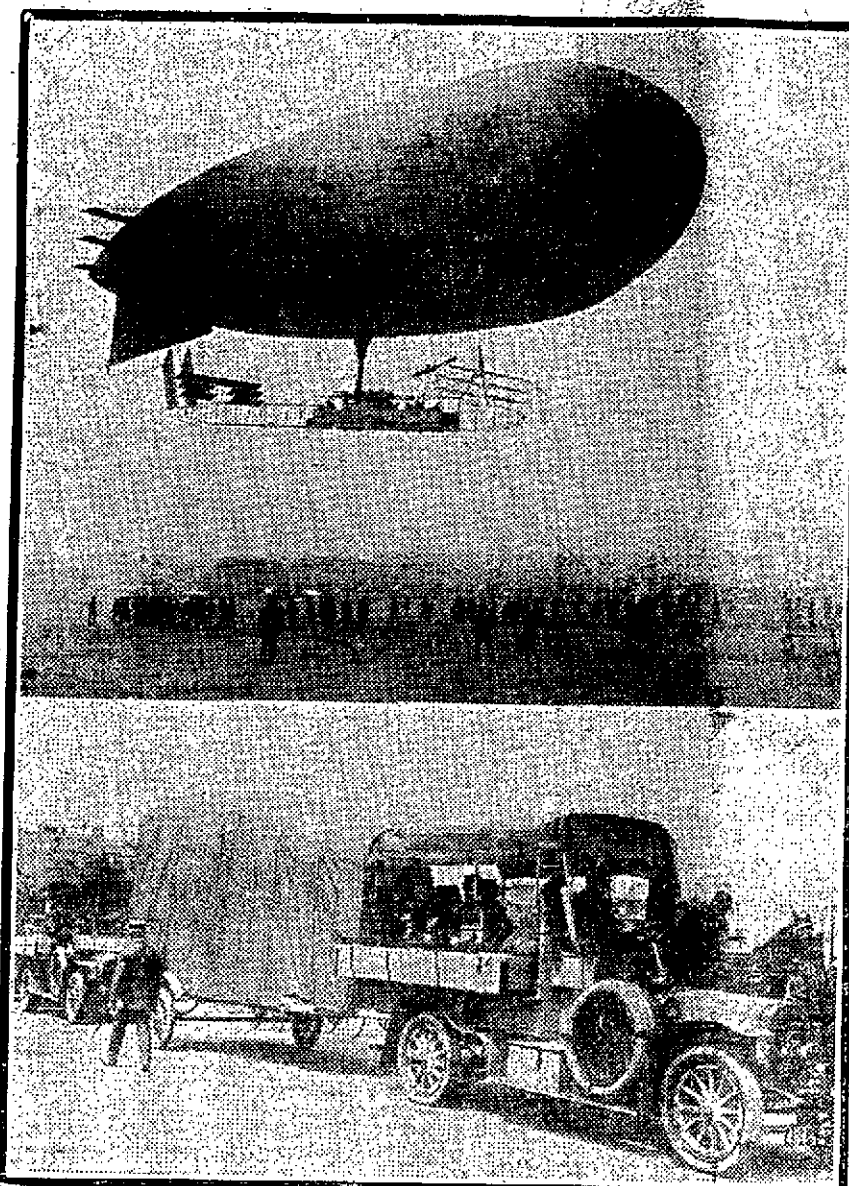

Accounts vary as to the amount of damage done by the aerial fighter. One account says that twenty-six lives were lost although from more conservative sources it is reported that only twelve bodies have been recovered so far from the ruins of the wrecked houses.

A despatch which is regarded as semi-official states that 900 houses were slightly damaged and sixty houses nearly destroyed. This despatch was sent to London, it is said, after a committee which included the Belgian secretary of state, the Russian ambassador, the papal nuncio and King Albert's secretary had examined the entire city with a view to appraising the results of the aerial bombardment. This despatch published by the Chronicle, says:

"For the first time in history a great civilized community has been bombarded from the sky in the dead of night. Count Zeppelin whom the German emperor calls the greatest genius of the century, has performed the greatest exploit of his life. He has thrown bombs on hospitals where Belgians were attending German wounded. He has staggered humanity. On August 5 the German commander warned General Leman at Liege that if the forts did not surrender, the Zeppelin fleet would hover against Belgium."

"The Germans have been as good as their word. We have explored every one of ten devastated streets and have found portions of ten bombs. The number of victims is unknown. It is significant that all the bombs were aimed at public buildings, such as the military barracks, the government offices and the royal palace. The population is in gloom."

The "Eclairer Conti" the new giant dirigible of the French army is seen in the upper photograph in the act of rising. The vessel is 75 feet long and is driven by two motors of 30 H. P. each. The lower photograph shows a group of auto trucks used by the French army for the transportation of the airships.

Steamers Collide In Smoke and Fog; Ten Lives Are Lost

(Associated Press Telegram) Seattle, Wash., Aug. 26.—Ten lives were lost when the steel passenger steamship Admiral Sampson of the Pacific-Alaska Navigation Co. was rammed and sunk by the Canadian Pacific passenger steamship Princess Victoria off Point No-Point twenty miles north of Seattle at 6:30 o'clock this morning during fog and thick smoke from forest fires. Princess Victoria brought the survivors to Seattle. The Admiral Sampson was bound from Seattle to Alaska. She had 56 passengers and a crew of 65.

The Admiral Sampson sank in four minutes. The collision took place at 6:30 o'clock this morning. The Admiral Watson, bound for San Francisco, was near the scene of the accident at the time.

The air was heavy with smoke and fog and it is supposed the collision was due to this cause. The Princess Victoria was bound from Victoria to Seattle. The Admiral Sampson sailed last night for Alaska. Point-No-Point is in the mainland at the southwest entrance to the body of water generally designated on the maps as Admiralty Inlet. The Admiral Sampson was a steel steamer of 2,262 gross tonnage, built at Philadelphia in 1898 for the United Fruit Company for use in the banana and tourist trade to the West Indies.

She was purchased by the Pacific-Alaska Navigation company several years ago and brought to Seattle via the Straits of Magellan.

Eight of the lost were members of the crew and two were passengers.

When the collision took place the oil tank exploded and J. Byrne, a passenger was covered with flames. He was rescued alive and died just as the Princess Victoria arrived at Seattle.

The name of the other lost passenger is not yet obtainable.

Captain Moore could have saved himself but he declared he would go down with the ship, and did so.

Victory For Austrians Is Reported in Battle; Russians Were Routed

RUSSIAN GUARDS' TERRIFIC CHARGE BRINGS VICTORY.

(Associated Press Telegram.) St. Petersburg, Aug. 26.—Via London.—The Novoe Vremya publishes an account of what it terms the memorable charge of the Russian horse guards at Gumbinnen during the recent fighting in which the Russians were victorious. It says:

"The Germans held a position in a small village from which they were pouring a murderous fire on the Russian troops. Cavalry was ordered to silence the guns. The first squadron rode straight at the battery which firing point blank mowed down the Russian ranks frightfully, annihilating the squadron. The second squadron followed fast and would have shared the same fate except that at the critical moment a third squadron rushed on the enemy from the flank, sabred the gunners and routed the whole German force."

"The Germans ran like rabbits, discarding swords, helmet and clothing in their mad haste to escape the avenging Russian horsemen."

"One squadron of Nizhni hussars who all are famous swordsmen, cut down seventy Germans without receiving a scratch in return."

First Indication That an Austrian Advance Into Russian Territory Had Been Made—Battle Front Extended 43 Miles

PRINCE FREDERICK SLAIN BY SHELL BEFORE NAMUR

Official Announcement That German Togoland Had Surrendered Unconditionally—Austrian Losses In Former Battle Increase With Later Reports—Zeppelin Airship Attempts Second Attack On Antwerp But Is Repulsed.

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, D. C., August 26. Neither the Japanese embassy nor the state department has received confirmation of the declaration of war by Austria up to 2:00 o'clock today, although messages direct from Vienna on other subjects reached the American government.

(Associated Press Telegram) London, Aug. 26 (7:20 p. m.)—It was announced officially that the German Togoland had surrendered unconditionally. The allies will enter Kamina Thursday morning.

Official reports made public in Vienna and transmitted from Berlin by wireless to New York declare that a battle of three days' duration at Krasnik, in Russian Poland, ended yesterday in a complete Austrian victory. The Russian forces were repulsed along the entire front and are in full flight in the direction of Lublin.

This is the first indication of an Austrian advance into Russian territory. Krasnik is about 20 miles north of the Galician frontier. It was announced officially in Berlin today that Lieutenant General Prince Frederic of Sax-Meiningen has been killed by a shell before Namur, August 23. This statement apparently clears up the identity of the German nobleman who was reported yesterday and today as having lost his life in battle.

A news despatch received in London from Antwerp conveys the report that the American minister to Belgium, Brand Whitlock had sent an energetic protest to the German government against the hurling of bombs into Antwerp from a Zeppelin airship.

London this morning received a news despatch from Antwerp saying that another raid on the city by a Zeppelin had been attempted last night. Measures taken by the Antwerp garrison however, caused the airship to retire.

The French war office was silent this morning, the usual official announcement not being made. Unofficial military opinion, however, is that the fighting along the French Belgian frontier continues. A news despatch from Paris says that in Lorraine the allied armies have taken up a combined offensive movement, and that the situation in the Vosges is unchanged. The battle continues in the region of Lunville and the French troops are said to be making progress.

A despatch from Antwerp sets forth that all German troops are believed to have left Brussels and that the Belgians expect to re-occupy the city immediately. This news, however, lacks confirmation from any official source.

A despatch received in Rome from Vienna declared that Austria Hungary has declared war on Japan.

According to telegrams from Nish, Serbia, the losses of the Austrians in the battle of the Drina continue to grow. They are now given at 15,000 killed, 30,000 wounded and 15,000 prisoners. Three hundred thousand Austrians are said to have taken part in this engagement.

Great Battle Between Forces At Ostend Vividly Described; British Army Royally Received

(Associated Press Telegram) London, Aug. 26.—6:30 a. m.—"At last the British army is at grips with Germans," says the Ostend correspondent of the Daily Mail.

"It was a great moment, when the British general staff with their men arrived. The inhabitants went mad with enthusiasm. The British army has come to Belgium exclaimed the townspeople gleefully, and nothing was too good for them. They had no difficulty in obtaining needed provisions. The populace was eager to provide for the visitors, who requisitioned, namely, eggs, bread, butter and coffee. All requisitioning was paid for in gold."

"The civil population was ordered to retire in the direction of France. The people regretfully shouldered their bags of belongings and passed silently down the road."

"The troops advanced to battle positions at 3 o'clock in the morning. At 4 o'clock eight German aeroplanes appeared whereupon a flock of British aeroplanes rose like birds to drive them away."

"Then the artillery began to talk and the air became thick with cannon powder. The great battle had begun. Forward went the infantry. Rifle fire and maxim fire added to the boom of the big guns. Sunrise mingled with the glow of burning forests and the flash of guns."

"This was Monday. The battle continued Tuesday and probably will continue for several days, either alone or merging with the battles on the left and right. The great battle which is now in full swing along the whole French, British and Belgian line is really a series of linked battles forming what may well be the decisive engagement of western Europe. It is a supreme effort on the part of the Germans to break into France, an effort which if stopped must mean disaster to three-quarters of a million German soldiers."

"There seem to be no soldiers left to guard the German line of communication. All is being hazard upon the success or failure of this battle. The German advance has been rapid and steady. Their columns have averaged twenty miles a day since they reached Brussels."

Republicans Non-Committal On Suffrage and Liquor Plank Disappoints Candidate Willis

(Associated Press Telegram) Columbus, Aug. 26.—When the Republican state convention met today at 9:30 a. m. the platform committee after being in session until early this morning, offered the following plank on the liquor question, which was accepted.

"We call the attention of the electors of Ohio to the pending constitutional amendments all of which are submitted without political sponsorship through the plan of initiation provided in our constitution. We pledge the Republican party to the conscientious execution of the will of the majority and to use all the authority provided in this constitution and statutes for enforcement of the law."

"While the traffic in intoxicating liquor is permitted in Ohio, we stand unalterably in favor of its continued restriction or limitation by such laws as are now a part of our statutes, or as hereafter may be enacted, except that we propose the decentralization of licensing authority. The present plan of appointing license commissioners by the governor tends to make a political machine of the saloon. We would place the licensing authority beyond the manipulation of partisan politics."

The Anti-Saloon league forces were considerably disappointed at the plank.

The tentative plank said to have been desired by Congressman Frank B. Willis, candidate for governor, was not included in the platform. Mr. Willis is understood to have asked the resolutions committee to insert a plank pledging the party to no backward step against progressive laws dealing with the liquor traffic.

The platform is somewhat longer than either the Progressive or Democratic platforms, and includes planks calling for protection to American industries, denunciation of the Underwood tariff law, opposition to the Democratic national administration for dropping civil war veterans from the government offices and asks that the government take steps to provide for an American merchant marine. The platform assails the administration of Governor James M. Cox. Many of the recommendations made by the (Continued on Page 9, Col. 3.)

PROTEST FILED AT WASHINGTON

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Aug. 26.—E. Haven, the Belgian minister, presented a protest at the state department today against what he termed a "war against women and children—the Zeppelin airship attack on Antwerp." Ten persons were killed, the minister stated, four of them women. Eight people were injured.

Secretary Bryan was very reticent in discussing the attitude of the United States toward such protests and intimated that the state department could take no action. Reported activity of Brand Whitlock, the American minister, is officially protesting to Germany, was denied by Secretary Bryan.

AEROPLANE FALLS. Paris, Aug. 26.—A German aeroplane fell to the ground inside the British lines in Quenoy region yesterday and the two German officers on board were killed. Quenoy is six miles from Lille.

Irish Soldiers First to Arrive to Fight for Great Britain

Before Great Britain declared war Irish soldiers had reached London ready to fight. A regiment of Irish Coast Guards was landed at Chatham Dockyard and they went on duty at once. They will do the same work in England that they had done in Ireland. This photograph to some extent bears out the prediction of John E. Redman that all Irishmen, Orangemen and Catholics would quit their own fighting to back the whole government in the crisis.

CALAMITY

OVERTOOK GHENT, AND MAYOR FORSADE PUBLIC BALLS AND FESTIVITIES

As Out of Harmony With the Occasion—Civil Guards Sent to Bruges.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, Aug. 26, 4 08 A. M.—The burgomaster of Ghent, says the correspondent there of Reuters' Telegram company, has issued a proclamation requesting that all flags be taken down and prohibiting public balls and music as not being in harmony with the national calamity.

The civil guards who have been recalled to the colors were sent by special train to Bruges, in the neighborhood from which Uhlans had been seen and drove the Germans off.

The Express publishes the following, which, however, is not confirmed elsewhere. "When Sir William Edward Goschen went to say good-bye to Emperor William the latter stalked into the room where the British ambassador was waiting. The emperor was wearing several British orders and medals on his breast, and these he tore off, saying 'Tell your king that that is what I think of him and his medals.' whereupon the emperor marched out of the room."

Refugees arriving from Ostend by way of Folkestone told of one of their number, a corpulent Frenchman who, as soon as the boat left the wharf at Ostend, took off his coat, vest and boots and putting on a life preserver sat down on the edge of the deck, continuing the whole trip in this costume. Asked what he meant by such behavior, he replied in just one eloquent word. "Mines."

YOUNG GERMAN PRINCE KILLED BEFORE NAMUR

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Berlin, Aug. 26.—(By Wireless to the Associated Press by Way of Nauen and Sayville, L. I.)—According to official announcement made here today Lieutenant General Prince Frederic of Sax-Meiningen was killed by a shell before Namur August 23.

No news of the situation on the eastern and western fronts of Germany has been given out today.

The above dispatch evidently clears up the reports published yesterday and today, that an uncle of Emperor William had been killed in battle. The identity of the German nobleman who has lost his life, up to the receipt of this dispatch from Berlin, had been uncertain.

One report from Paris said he was presumed to be Prince Albert of Schleswig-Holstein.

Prince Frederic of Sax-Meiningen was born in 1861. He was the third son of George, late duke of Sax-Meiningen. He was married in 1889 to Adelaide, Princess of Lippe, and had six children.

SIX TIMES THE BRITISH DROVE BACK GERMANS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Paris, Aug. 26, 3 50 A. M.—According to Englishmen arriving from Mons the British army was attacked six times by six different bodies of Germans and beat them all off. They estimate the English casualties at 2000. They report that the allies made a hecatomb of the Germans near Mons. Certain parts of the field, they declare, were covered with German dead piled so high that the "Turoos" the French-African troops, had difficulty in getting over the dead bodies to attack the Prussian guards.

Victorious Russians Press on, While Retreating Teutons Assemble Forces, is Report

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, Aug. 26.—5 41 A. M.—The Times St. Petersburg correspondent says that the Germans, who retreated by forced marches after their defeat by the Russians at Gumbinnen, are assembling a part of their forces at Koeningberg. The German fortified position on the river Angerab was abandoned without fighting. "The roads beyond the Angerab are strewn with cartridges, knapsacks and equipment cast aside in the hasty flight of the German troops," says the Times correspondent.

"North of Neidenburg, Sunday and Monday there was a severe fighting in which the Russians were again victorious largely through their superiority of the bayonet. The enemy were had ascribed the entire twentieth army corps in a fortified position. The Russians had a negotiate this and barbed wire. Hand grenades were used, the Russians finally carrying the positions at the point of the bayonet."

The Germans retreated toward Osterode leaving behind many guns, machine guns, caissons and prisoners. "Meanwhile the Lithuanian army is driving the first German army corps toward Danzig. The question now is whether the German forces can escape and how long the Russians will take in occupying the territory east of the river Vistula. There they will find strong German defenses. It is reported that the Russians on Monday reached Marienburg, only twenty-five miles from Danzig."

The Germans at Gumbinnen had all the advantages of numbers and position, it was a clear case of the best man winning. Russia was the best. The Russian losses include representatives of all the noblest families in the empire.

The Grand Duke Dmitri Pavlovitch and the Princes John and Oleg Constantovitch rode in the terrible charges which will ever be a glory to their regiment and the Russian army."

VICTORY FOR AUSTRIANS

troops are now said to occupy the whole of the eastern and southern half of eastern Prussia. The Russian armies are declared officially to be continuing on the offensive. A news despatch received in London from the Russian capital describes the Russian contingent composed of the great bulk of the Russian army, as marching "silently, but with terrible force" on Posen, in Prussia.

The authorities at St. Petersburg have issued orders dismissing the German and Austrian sovereigns and princes from honorary colonelships in Russian regiments and depriving them of Russian decorations. This has never before been done in any war.

Rome reports the receipt by the Italian government of a telegram from General Conrad Chief of the Austrian staff, characterizing as absolutely without foundation the reports that Austria-Hungary has aggressive intentions against Italy.

News Despatches received in London from Ostend convey the belief there that Germany will occupy Ostend for use later as a base of naval operations against England. Ostend is 66 miles from the British coast.

The North German Lloyd steamer Princess Alice has put into the port of Cebu, in the Philippine Islands with a hole in her stern. The captain reports that he tried to get the German island of Yap, in the Carolines by wireless but found the station had been destroyed by the British.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, Aug. 26.—Since the withdrawal of the allied armies to the defenses of the French frontier, virtually no news has reached the public of the military operations in southern Belgium.

Owing to the difficulty of compiling correct lists along such an extended front, no details of the British casualties which Premier Asquith estimated yesterday at 2,000, yet have been received.

The announcement of losses seems to have intensified British determination, judging from the extra work being performed by the recruiting officers today.

With tenacity of purpose this afternoon he made the announcement that he proposed to ask King George to convey to the King of the Belgians the admiration with which

Great Britain regarded the heroic resistance of his army and people to the wanton invasion of their territory.

The premier declares further that the Belgian government was taking steps to the established facts of German atrocities, as related in the statement given out yesterday by the Belgian minister here.

The premier said Secretary of War Kitchener needed all the recruits he could get. It was a great mistake to think Premier Asquith declared, the Great Britain wanted only 100,000 men.

The rush of the main Russian army toward the fortress of Posen, in the German province of Posen, if true is regarded here as the sensational news of the day. It might account for the Germans falling back in eastern Prussia.

I wish to say emphatically that nobody connected with the embassy has made any remarks concerning peace, mediation or future events. I am cut off from communication with my government and am absolutely responsible for any unauthorized statement, but I assume no responsibility for unauthorized interviews with persons supposed to be connected with the German embassy."

No Inspection Made of Work Of Present Commissioners

In the report emanating from Columbus regarding the report of Examiner H. E. Sage, the impression was given that the present board of county commissioners had made errors in their records which resulted in findings being returned against them. The work of Examiner Sage stopped with the business transacted Sept. 15, 1913, before Messrs. Jones, Dumm and Orr assumed office. No inspection was made of the work of these commissioners, they having been in office less than a year. "We don't object to taking full responsibility for the record of our incumbency in office," said one of the commissioners regarding the report, "but we do not like to be held accountable for business transacted before we assumed our offices."

COTTON

AND OTHER STAPLE CROPS WILL BE FINANCED IN WAR EMERGENCY

By Means Proposed in Washington by Committee of 18. Aided by the Government.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Aug. 26.—Confident of speedily handling the emergency caused by war in Europe, a committee of eighteen representative planters, manufacturers, merchants, bankers and government officials, was at work today on plans for financing the cotton and other staple crops and providing adequate warehouse facilities throughout producing centers. The committee had been assured that all the currency needed to finance the crops would be afforded by national banks on properly safeguarded certificates.

The committee, representing interests in many states, was appointed after a conference at the treasury department at which Secretary McAdoo scored the plan. The committee had been assured that all the currency needed to finance the crops would be afforded by national banks on properly safeguarded certificates.

"The national bank system of this country, properly inspected and under government supervision," said Mr. McAdoo, "should be the controlling agency for the issue of this currency in order that we may know that every dollar that is in circulation has been supervised by the government and that it will pass current wherever it appears."

PRINCE ALBERT IS PRESUMABLY AMONG THE SLAIN

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Paris, Aug. 26.—6 55 A. M.—It is officially announced that a German Prince has been killed in battle and the ministry of war says it presumes that he was Prince Albert of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Beckburg.

An earlier announcement had given the name General Prince Adalbert, who was described as the Emperor's uncle. This was obviously an error and the ministry of war now states that Adalbert "was probably a telegraphic error," "Albert" having been intended.

FURIOUS

BOMBARDMENT OF NAMUR FROM WELL AIMED GUNS OF
GERMANSSilenced Two of the Forts at First Few Shots—Orderly Evacuation
By Belgians.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

London, Aug. 26.—The Paris correspondent of the Times who had been on the battlefield earlier in the fighting, says that he met a few miles outside of Philippeville a Belgian officer and the paymaster general of Namur, who told him that the town of Namur had been occupied by the Germans. It had been subjected to a furious bombardment and the German fire was so well regulated that the first few shots had silenced Fort Marcheville on the northeast and Fort Maizelette on the east. Fort Andoy also suffered badly and was almost out of action.

The story continues: "The Germans entered the town without encountering much resistance. Fort Dave at the southeast of the town and Fort Vespion on the opposite side of the Meuse, and the line of forts to the north still resist."

"In spite of the elaborate preparations with wire entanglements through which was passed an electrical current of 1500 volts, and the liberal use of broken glass, Namur fell into the hands of the Germans on Sunday."

"The Belgians evacuated the town in an orderly manner. All rolling stock and motor cars were removed and the stationmaster left on the last locomotive with the railway cash box under his arm. The Belgian troops, numbering about 8,000, passed under the protection of a French cavalry screen within the French lines."

"The correspondent adds: 'Thus the Germans have done much to win mastery over the two banks of the Meuse.'

London, Aug. 26.—4 42 A. M.—A Havas agency despatch from Paris says: "The situation in the Vosges is unchanged. The battle continues in the region of Lunéville and the French troops are making progress."

No Germans were seen today (probably Tuesday) in the neighborhood of Lille or Tourcoing (in the department of Nord, France), where measures have been taken with a view to subsequent operations."

Lord Kitchener Foresees Demand
For Greatest Sacrifices by England

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

London, Aug. 26.—Lord Kitchener made his first speech as minister of war in the house of lords Tuesday.

He told his hearers that this war undoubtedly would strain the forces of the empire and entail big sacrifices. He laid emphasis on the fact that his position in the cabinet involved adherence to neither party. He said:

"The terms on which I am serving are the same as those under which some of the finest portions of our manhood now so willingly stepping forward to join the colors, are engaging. That is to say, my term of office is for the duration of the war or for three years if the war should last longer than that."

"It has been asked why this period has been limited. It is because if this disastrous war be prolonged, and no one can tell for a certainty its duration, that after three years of war others will take our places and see this matter through."

"There will be serious conflicts, which undoubtedly will strain the forces of our empire, and undoubtedly considerable sacrifices to our people are entailed. These will willingly be borne for our honor and for the salvation of our position in the world, and they will be shared by our dominions, who are now sending contingents and giving assistance of every kind to the mother country."

"Our expeditionary force has taken the hold on the French northwest frontier, in the neighborhood of Mons (in Belgium). Our troops already have been for 36 hours in contact with the superior forces of the German invader. During that time they have maintained the best traditions of the British soldier and behaved with the utmost gallantry. The movements they have been called upon to execute have been those which demand the greatest steadiness of a soldier and skill in the commanders."

Continuing, Lord Kitchener pointed out that the fighting in Europe would result in greater casualties than the campaigns Great Britain usually was engaged in. He said he was sure that the public was fully prepared to meet whatever losses and sacrifices the country might have to face and he paid a tribute to the readiness of the expeditionary force and the invaluable aid of the press and public in preserving silence and accepting the novel situation.

"If the conditions of strategy had permitted everyone in this country would have been rejoiced if they could have been ranged alongside the gallant Belgian army in its superb struggle against the desperate odds which just has been witnessed. But although the privilege, perforce, has been denied us, Belgian knows of our sympathy with her in her sufferings and our indignation at the blows which have been inflicted upon her and also of our resolution to make sure that none of her sacrifices will have been unavailing."

"The empire with which we are at war has called to the colors almost its entire male population. The principle we on our part shall observe is this: That while the maximum force undergoes constant diminution the re-inforcements we prepare will steadily and increasingly flow out until we have an army in the field which in numbers will not be less than in quality and not be unworthy of the power and responsibility of the British empire."

"I cannot at this stage say what will be the limits of the force required or what measures may eventually become necessary to supply and maintain it."

"But if the war should be protracted and if its fortunes should be varied or adverse, exertions and sacrifices beyond any which have been demanded will be required from the whole nation and empire. And where they are required, we are sure they will not be denied to the extreme needs of the state, by parliament or the people."

DIPLOMAT SAYS
WE SHOULD KEEP OUT OF THIS WAR

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Copenhagen, via London, Aug. 26.—Henry White, formerly American ambassador at Paris, has made a formal denial that he had said that Germany was not to blame for the war.

This alleged statement has been widely circulated on the continent. Mr. White said:

"It is the duty of every American to be neutral in word as well as in deed. No such statement was made by me. I merely commented upon the excellent treatment given Americans by Germans. This has been uniformly good, though several Americans did run into trouble. What the cause of this was I do not know."

I wish to lay emphasis upon the necessity for a neutral bearing upon the part of the Americans. This war is not their business and they should keep out of it.

Tuesday's Conventions.

The first conventions of the Democratic, Republican and Progressive parties of Ohio, held since the new primary election law went into effect were held yesterday in Columbus. The Democrats listened to inspiring addresses by United States Senator Pomerene, former Governor Campbell, Governor Cox and Attorney General Hogan, and adopted during the afternoon a platform, the full text of which appears in this edition. The party unanimously declared its support of the deeds of the national and state administrations and issued a defiance to the opposition to lay a criticizing finger upon any law or policy of government that is erroneous. The Democracy goes into the campaign pointing with pride to the achievements of both the national and state administrations and to the fulfillment of party platforms and pledges. Upon the good record that has been made by the national and state administrations and upon the promise of future legislation in the interest of the people, the Democracy asks for the continued support of the voters of Ohio.

The Advocate dispatches from Columbus yesterday detailed the action of the Progressive and Republican conventions. The Republicans, unable to agree upon plans of their platform, adjourned until today to complete their program.

Modern War.

The popular conception of war sees a battle as a line of men with colors flying and cheering officers, led forward in dress parade against a similarly arranged foe. Over on some hill is the general watching the battle with field glasses, and sending dispatches by mounted aides on frothing horses.

Modern war has made such methods as obsolete as the Roman galley. Battle flags are a means of attracting the enemy's fire. The general sits in some quiet office or field station miles from the front, and talks with his officers by telephone or wireless.

War has become a business and industrial proposition. The slightest failure in detail may wreck a campaign. Sore feet due to imperfectly stitched shoes may cost a battle, quite as much as defective rifles.

In the Balkan war the Montenegrins illustrated the failure of old style warfare. The picturesque mountaineers were called the best fighters in Europe. They disdained to carry intrenching tools. So it cost them three times as many men and four times as much time to capture Scutari as would have been taken by scientific fighters with the spade.

There is no place in modern warfare for the individual hero. He would interfere with discipline. Everyone has to be a hero. That involves an efficient commissariat. Good fighting is never done by hungry men.

Still, the human element can never be systematized out of war. By incessant target practice the marksman learns to shoot straight, which was the reason why the United States beat Spain in 1898 so readily. The other human element of enthusiasm is partly a matter of national temperament, partly a sense of the justice of the cause. Such are the great factors in this war of the gods on the frontier of France.

Which would the standpatters repeat first, the Workmen's Compensation act or the Warnes law, which has put one billion three hundred thousand dollars of hidden property on the tax duplicate?

A St. Louis man whose name is a column wide has just been naturalized in St. Louis and has taken the name of Moore. Shouldn't it have been less?

If Mr. Villa wants to get on the front page again, he might take passage to Europe. Most any of the commanders could use him to advantage.

Suppose the Mexican trouble and the European war had developed seven or eight years ago — would America have been at peace?

The American people prefer President Wilson's peace policy to the crowned heads' program of death and desolation.

Fateful Summer Weeks.

(Chicago Herald.)

Eight weeks ago a feeble-minded Serbian youth fired the shots that slew the heir to the Hapsburg throne. The tragedy was regarded as making for the peace of Europe rather than for war, since Francis Ferdinand was believed to have held very drastic views about the course that should be taken toward the Balkan states.

The Vienna government sought, however, to indict the whole Serbian people for the crime. Little Serbia accepted eight of the eleven demands of her big neighbor, unconditionally, accepted two conditionally, and rejected one only conditionally. Serbia's submission was denounced as "filled with the spirit of dishonesty," weeks ago Vienna declared war.

Then came the deluge! Russia refused to resign her long accepted role of "big brother" to the minor Slavic states. As Russia would not cease from moving to the rescue of Servia, the German emperor felt bound to move to the aid of his ally of Vienna. Three weeks ago Berlin declared war upon Russia, and the German armies seized "neutralized" Luxemburg and demanded free passage through independent Belgium for the invasion of France.

How Belgium resisted and appealed to England for aid; how England rejected what her prime minister termed "the German bribe"; and sent out her fleets; how war has since raged along the Meuse and the Danube, on the plains of Poland and in nearly all the Seven Seas; how nations which had no part or lot in the quarrel have felt its destructive shocks—that is the history of the last three weeks.

What will the next three weeks—the next eight weeks—bring forth? Will they see France crushed, England crippled, Russia repelled, and Belgium overwhelmed? Or will they see Germany ringed with fire and the Austro-Hungarian empire in the throes of death? These are the questions raised, and to be answered in these fateful summer weeks of 1914.

Spirit of the Press

World Opportunity.

The war is a world calamity, of course. But it is also a world opportunity for the United States. If we but grasp the opportunity energetically it means vastly more business for our factories, with more work and better wages for our workers.—Chicago Herald.

Monroe Doctrine.

A curiously perverted notion of the Monroe doctrine is found in various letters to newspapers written by correspondents who assume that the United States would not permit a German attack upon Canada if such an attack were possible. There is nothing in the Monroe doctrine that would prevent German troops from marching from one end of Canada to the other if they could get there. If Germany tried to annex Canada that would be a different matter. The Monroe doctrine does not apply to war. It applies to the alienation of territory.—New York World.

God in the War.

Every king and emperor who has plunged his people into the European cataclysm has done so with the name of God upon his lips and with the assurance to the men who are so soon to die that they are giving their lives to a holy cause. Few war rulers in the history of the world have had the wisdom or the genuinely reverent piety of Abraham Lincoln, and it's worth while in this connection to recall how during the darkest days of the Civil war, when asked whether he was sure God was on one side, he replied: "I do not know; I have not thought about that. But I am very anxious to know whether we are on God's side."—Youngstown Vindicator.

Widening the War.

Under the new interpretation of international ethics, which permits a nation at war to invade a friendly and neutral country and levy heavy indemnities upon its people, it is difficult to see how Japan can be severely blamed for its declaration of war upon Germany. It is undeniable that Japan has a considerable cause of grievance against Germany, as also against France and Russia, for her part in depriving the Flowery Kingdom of the fruits of its victory over China 20 years ago. This resentment has, of course, been increased by Germany's course in seizing Chinese territory and becoming an active competitor for the trade of the Orient. Japan would probably like to banish all European competition from that region, but as that is manifestly not feasible, it does what it can by taking advantage of German's embarrassments and forcing the issue. England has doubtless had an active hand in this coup by her Eastern ally, but that, too, is a part of the game. A short time ago such tactics would have created a general protest. Now the world will only shrug its shoulders.—Philadelphia Record.

Now that the Germans have taken Belgium clear to the west coast, England fears a flight of Zeppelins armed with explosives may be made over London some foggy night soon.

Democratic Platform For Campaign 1914

Pursuant to law, the Democratic party of Ohio, in state convention assembled, this twenty-fifth day of August, 1914, declare and publish the following platform of principles:

We most earnestly indorse the administration of Pres. Woodrow Wilson. We are profoundly grateful for the peace which his wise statesmanship has preserved us while pitiless war strikes terror to the souls of the citizens of nearly every other great power on earth. We indorse the peace treaties he has negotiated and respectfully invite the people of this state, without regard to partisanship, to join us in this expression of deepest appreciation of his patriotism; this pledge of our party loyalty, fidelity and devotion in these trying times and in this message of sympathy to him in the hours of his greatest personal grief.

Pomerene Indorsed.

Bespeaking widest co-operation we indorse the splendid record of the honorable Atlee Pomerene, promise and pledge our untiring efforts to the end that Ohio may send another senator to join him and a new congressional delegation, all of whom shall continue to uphold the president and be in and of his administration in both heart and spirit.

With equal earnestness and commensurate pride, we indorse and approve the wise, energetic and statesmanlike administration of Governor James M. Cox, his executive associates and the general assembly, who redeemed to the last letter every platform pledge they made to the people thus establishing a new record of fidelity and trust.

Two years ago the people of this state, at a nonpartisan election, ordered the first material change in their constitution in over 60 years, by ratifying more than 30 amendments thereto, which had been submitted by a constitutional convention, the members of which had been elected on a non-partisan ballot. The vote was emphatic. Thus was imposed a duty on the general assembly and executive elected in 1912 to enact and to enforce such laws as would vitalize the people's mandate. In two sessions of the general assembly and on the specific recommendation of the governor in each instance, all the laws necessary to put the people's amendments to their constitution in full force and effect were enacted. Not a single responsibility was dodged or duty shirked.

Stand By New Laws.

These laws are the Democratic interpretation of the people's will. We stand by each and all of them. We challenge the critics of the opposition to name the law or laws they would repeal or amend, and if named, in what respect. Then an issue may be joined.

Believing that the enactments of the last two years constitute a full satisfaction of the demands of the people, as expressed by their votes on constitutional amendments, we pledge the general assembly, which is to be elected in November of this year, to the briefest possible session and to the consideration of such matters only as are of general community interest.

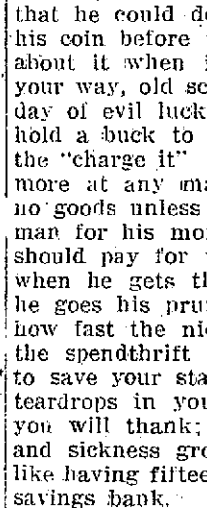

The work of the last brief session of the general assembly, which consisted in cutting the state tax levy more than 50 per cent, thus reducing the same to the lowest in Ohio's history, will not excite the citizens. This result was made possible by the enactment of the new tax law which simply introduced business matter of a listing property for taxation. The general lightening of the burden of all honest taxpayers is the law's vindication. It will produce even better results next year than this.

We urge upon the national Congress the enactment of a workmen's compensation law similar to that in this state, to the end that those of our laborers employed in interstate commerce may enjoy the same protection that their fellow employees in Ohio now enjoy.

CHARGE IT.

"Just chalk it down," the poor man said, when he had bought some boneless bread, and many costly things, his wife and brood of bairns to feed — the most of which they didn't need as much as you need wings. He buys the richest things in town, and always says, "Just chalk it down, I'll pay you, soon, you bet," and payday evening finds him broke, his hard earned plunk's gone up in smoke, and still he is in debt. The man who doesn't buy for cash lays in all kinds of costly trash, that he could do without; he spends about it when it's burned — is that your way, old scout? When comes the day of evil luck the war bag doesn't hold a buck to keep the wolf away; the "charge it" plan will work no more at any market, shop or store; no goods unless you pay. The poor man for his money sweats, and he should pay for what he gets, just when he gets the same; then, when he goes his prunes to buy, and sees how fast the nickels fly, he'll dodge the spendthrift game. If you begin to save your stamps, some day, with teardrops in your lamps, this writer will thank you, when man in grief and sickness groans there's naught like having fifteen bones in some good savings bank.

Five Cardinals Considered for Vacant Papacy.

CARDINAL GASPARRI, CARDINAL GAETANO, CARDINAL LAURO, CARDINAL MAFFEI, CARDINAL LUALDI.

Alessandro Lualdi, born at Milan on August 12, 1858, created Cardinal on April 15, 1907.
Domenico Ferrata, born at Gradoli on March 1, 1847, created Cardinal on June 22, 1896.
Pietro Gasparri, born at Ussita on May 3, 1852, created Cardinal on December 16, 1907.

Pietro Maffei, born at Cortesolona on October 1, 1858, created Cardinal on April 17, 1907.
Gaetano de Lai, born at Malo on July 20, 1853, created Cardinal on December 16, 1907.

Five cardinals of sixty-six in the Roman Catholic church are being seriously considered for the place left vacant by the death of Pope Pius. The new Pope must be a Cardinal whose piety, intellectual attainments and executive ability are well known. He must be an Italian, as although the Sacred College is free to elect a foreigner, for many centuries the Pope has been an Italian, and a foreign Pope, it is feared would compromise the question of temporal power. Every Cardinal is bound by oath to defend, integrally and strenuously the temporal rights and the liberty of the Holy See, especially the civil preeminence of the Pope. This implies that a elected Pope he is expected to oppose reconciliation with Italy, and a foreigner may fail to do so, while the three Italian Popes since 1870 followed implicitly this policy.

The new Pope must be comparatively young so as to insure a long pontificate. Finally, he must not belong to a monastic order. The majority of Cardinals are secular priests, and although hard to explain it is obvious to any one even slightly acquainted with Rome that a monk or a friar will never be elected Pope.

Cardinal Maffei and Lualdi, and more so the former, have a good chance of election, as they are noted for their intellectual attainments and executive ability, and what is more important, their names have not been mentioned as likely candidates for the papacy. They are as it were the black horses that generally win in the conclave. The eight Cardinals of Curia who are considered papabili have not of course the same chance of success, and the process of elimination will further reduce their number.

Cardinals Lorenzini, Beltrami and Vico stand slight chances of election, while Cardinal Rinaldini's name has never been mentioned.

On the contrary, Cardinal Gasparri is one of the most eminent members of the Sacred College and he is well fitted to become Pope. His chances of election are strong, and there are many who think that at the next conclave Cardinals Gasparri and Maffei will be the two foremost candidates.

The group of papabili therefore consists of the following Cardinals: Maffei, Gasparri, Lualdi, De Lai and Ferrata. Cardinal Maffei is 55 years old, he has been six years a Cardinal. He is an eminent scientist.

MOVE OF GERMANS AGAINST OSTEND, WHICH THEY MAY USE LATER

As a Base of Operations Against England—Only 66 Miles From Coast.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The Daily Mail believes that the Germans will occupy Ostend for use later as a base of operations against England. "The German movement against Ostend is of greater importance and is dictated by naval as well as military considerations," says the paper. "Ostend is only 66 miles off the British coast. If the Germans establish themselves there and bring up heavy artillery they may render it a dangerous base of operations against England. Airships acting from it could watch the channel and the Thames and carry out raids against Great Britain. "From a naval standpoint Ostend is well equipped to serve as a refuge and harbor."

Grim Side of War is Relieved by Amusing Incidents and Romances

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Grim as war news is, it is not without its lighter side of amusing incidents, oddities and romances.

Lord Kitchener's first question when he entered the war office to take up his new post, so it is reported in the Spermin Chronicle, was addressed to the porter: "Is there a bed here, he asked. "No, my lord," replied the porter. "Get one," said Lord Kitchener, and passed on.

The conferring of war names upon children began as soon as the first blood was shed. "Allert Loman Liete," Hopkins and Marie Alsace Lorraine Lecompere, have already been registered in London.

The suggestions advanced in letters to the press for mitigating the distress during and after the war covers almost everything. An Australian urges that the fecundity of the rabbit offer a solution. He would have the government enclose areas of the country and stock them well with rabbits. "Thousands of rabbits rapidly multiplying would prove very useful during a period of high prices," he says.

To end hostile demonstrations a German woman shopkeeper of Islington married an Englishman and "Jenkins" has replaced "Hoggesbalt" above the shop.

Almost everything is free to the soldier. Photographic studios invite soldiers in for free portraits to leave with their sweethearts. Bootmakers advertise their desire to repair the army man's boots free of cost and in some instances they engage to keep the foot gear of the wives and children at home in repair so long as the war lasts.

The use of the telephone for the circulation of war news to subscribers has become a feature of the newspaper service throughout the British Isles. Most of the papers have definite evening hours set apart, during which any subscriber who has paid for the service may learn by telephone the late night war news.

Wives of soldiers married without official permission and without title to allowances, are to receive allowances just the same, according to announcement by the war office. The allowance will be 25 cents a day for each wife, with four cents a day for each boy under 14 years of age and each girl under 16.

The Welsh have decided to hold the great national Eisteddfod, or singing festival at Bangor, next month, notwithstanding the war. The proceeds of the festival are to be devoted to the Prince of Wales war distress fund.

London housewives have made up some war rules for the kitchen, which call for marketing in person, the bringing home of all small parcels and buying and cooking in the most economical way possible from day to day, rather than buying in quantities. Some of the London papers have severely scored the practice of the well to do in buying huge quantities of foodstuffs with which to stuff their larders, knowing that their action contributes further hardship to the poor.

Business as usual is being given wide publicity as a motto for the Englishman at home to follow so far as possible during the war. Notwithstanding the optimism however, the shadow of unemployment is lengthening daily. One of the largest candle-making firms in England reports that business took a decided spurt with outbreak of war, due to a popular belief that the gas and electric light service might fail suddenly. Candle dealers generally have been obliged to limit their sales, for fear of exhausting their stocks.

Mrs. Florence Miller and Cary Van Voorhis each had 27 sheep killed. William Green lost seven young cattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vanwinkle and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blackburn spent Sunday evening in Newark, the guests of John Applegate and family.

Misses Lena and Leva Dunlap of Winding Fork are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Delber Allen.

Mrs. Bessie Vance and daughter Helen of Columbus are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Shrontz.

Miss Marie Dodd of Newark spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Cline.

Half-Oz, the white horse belonging to Oliver McMillen, took first money in the $25 race at Mt. Vernon fair Thursday.

Rolla Trout, Frank McWilliams and Hugh Conway have purchased new Ford cars.

Mrs. Burrell Brandon and son Donald spent last week at Frampton, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Moran.

Mr. P. I. Greiff is repairing his property in Ulita, preparatory to moving into the village Oct. 1.

Mrs. Laura Ewart and Miss Elizabeth Bebout are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dudgeon, in Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burris of Mt. Vernon spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Freese.

Miss Hazel Rowley and John Rowley of Chesterville are the guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rowley.

Miss Leslie of Zanesville spent last week with her cousin, Miss Pearl Beatty.

Dr. and Mrs. Will Shrontz of Newark spent Sunday with Dr. J. F. Shrontz and family.

Mr. Frank Kerns had a horse drop dead in the harness, near St. Louisville, Saturday.

Mrs. Leslie Beatty returned to the state sanitarium at Mt. Vernon on Monday, after a week's visit here and at Henpeck.

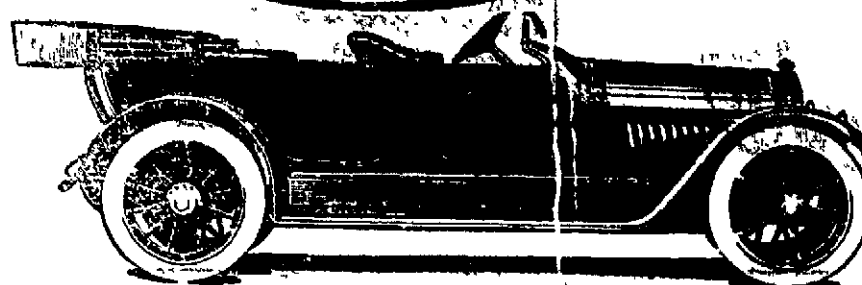

The big Bartino tent show failed to arrive here from Chatham Monday until dark and could not give their performance. Breakdowns and bad roads detained them.

Blobs—"I saw you coming out of Dr. Bigbee's office today. What gave you 'got'?" Slobs—"Nothing now. I just paid his bill."

CRUISER CHASE DESCRIBED BY WIRELESS MAN

(Associated Press Telegram)
London, Aug. 26.—6:02 a. m.—Wireless Operator Marsden of the British cruiser Gloucester, which pursued the German cruiser Goeben and Breslau, wrote an account of the chase to his mother. He said:

"The chase lasted four days and nights, during which our gunner indulged in some long range shots at the Breslau. After missing the first shot, 11,000 yards, he spat on the second shot for luck and it went through O. K., carrying away half of the Breslau funnel. The gunner repeated the operation on the third shot which cleared the Breslau quarter-deck and put her after gun out of action. The cruiser fired thirty shots in return. Two of them smashed boats on the davits on the Gloucester upper deck. Our ship narrowly escaped destruction from a torpedo fired by the Goeben."

Francis Joseph the Saddest Figure Among Europe's Rulers

Aged Monarch Harried by Grim Misfortune From His Boyhood—"Unhappy Lies the Head That Wears a Crown" True in His Case.

It has fallen to the lot of few men to bear such a series of misfortunes as those that came to Francis Joseph (Charles) I., emperor of Austria, whose eighty-fourth birthday occurred Aug. 18. The reign of the oldest monarch in the world was one of woe and disaster. His most recent and most personal grief was caused by Gavrilo Princip, the Serbian anarchist, whose bullet ended the life of the heir apparent, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, and his wife, the Duchess of Hohenburg. But before this happened he had earned the title of the Sorrowful Emperor.

Waiving the question of right or wrong in declaring war on Serbia, as the direct result of the assassination of Francis Ferdinand, the fact stands out that it was this act which plunged all of Europe into a bloody conflict, a conflict aptly described by the British government in its call for men to enlist under the Union Jack as the greatest war in the history of the world.

From the day when as a boy of eighteen he was ordered by the family council to dethrone his uncle, since otherwise all hope for the house of Hapsburg was lost, Francis Joseph never knew a happy day. He has remained upon the throne of his country for over sixty-six years, the saddest monarch of his age.

Curse Over Family.

A curse, uttered with all the hatred and vindictiveness of a woman whose heart was torn with grief, hangs over the house of Hapsburg. Since this curse upon the emperor and his family was made in 1848 by the Countess Karolyi, the house of Hapsburg has known more grief than any other royal family of Europe.

Following the execution of her son for his activity in the Hungarian uprising, Countess Karolyi sought an audience with the emperor. Once in his presence she denounced him in the most scathing terms; she prayed that his life be stripped of happiness, that misery and suffering come to those dearest to him, and that he be crushed to the earth in despair. The woman left his presence with the declaration that her prayers would be answered and the death of her son avenged.

A political catalyst sent Francis Joseph on his throne as a boy and loaded him with responsibilities and griefs such as only the strong can bear.

Francis Joseph had hardly reached the throne when he was forced to lead his soldiers against his own people in the quelling of a bloody revolution. These events had hardly passed well into recollection when his natural ally made war on him, reduced him to humiliating peace and took a slice of his provinces.

Brother Executed in Mexico.

Francis Joseph was duped into permitting his brother to become the tool of Napoleon III. in a wild scheme to establish a Franco-Austrian monarchy in Mexico. The unhappy Empress Carlotta went insane begging Napoleon to aid her defeated husband, and Maximilian himself was shot to death with his generals, making a final tragic plea that they shoot low, so his mother might look upon his dead face unmourning.

Francis Joseph's Italian provinces revolted and joined the Italian kingdom. Every few years there have been fresh outbreaks in his own country. Time and again European wars threatened to engulf him and his kingdom, and he faced the possibility that his death would mean the dissolution of his remnant of the great German-Roman empire, which one day ruled the world.

But to all these public disasters was added a list of private or personal griefs such as few men—high or low—have ever been made to bear.

Perhaps the greatest of these tragedies and the one that bore most heavily on the old monarch, was the mysterious death of his only son, the Crown Prince Rudolph, at Mayerling. Rudolph was twenty-three years old when he married in 1881 Princess Stephanie, daughter of the king of the Belgians. The princess was sixteen. The crown prince married her for state reasons, and they became known as "the most unhappy royal couple in Europe."

The crown prince was invited to a reception at the home of a cousin, the Countess Larisch. That was in the fall of 1887. There the countess introduced him to a beautiful young woman, the Baroness Vetsera, nineteen years old.

The crown prince lost his head and heart. He went to his father, the emperor, and announced that he intended to divorce Stephanie and marry the young baroness, offering to renounce all claims to the throne. The emperor forbade it. Rudolph applied to the pope for permission to annul his marriage to Stephanie, but again was rebuffed.

Several months later, through the pleadings of his family, the crown prince agreed to be reconciled to Stephanie, and a state reception was planned in honor of their reunion.

The Baroness Vetsera heard of this on the morning of the day for which the reception was planned. She went to the palace and, forcing her way past the palace guards, gained access to the crown prince's room. There she clung herself at his feet, begging him not to desert her.

A Fatal Farewell.

Rudolph's love for the baroness was revived, and he agreed to meet her that night in a hunting chateau near by for a last farewell. When the royal family and guests assembled for the state dinner the crown prince could not be found. After a wait of several hours word came that the bodies of Rudolph and the Baroness Vetsera had been found in a room in the chateau.

For many years the affair was shrouded in mystery. Only recently Countess Larisch tore away the veil in her book entitled "My Past." Her conclusion was that the lovers agreed to die together, Rudolph slaying the baroness and then himself.

The widowed Stephanie fell in love with and married Count Elmer Lonyay, a young nobleman. The crown princess lost her royal rank in Austria and her native country through the marriage.

Next in order the Archduke Johann Salvator fell in love with Milli Stibel, a Viennese dancer, and was refused the right to marry her.

Finally, after a stormy interview with the emperor, the archduke wrote a terrific brochure against the Austrian army, resigned all his rank, took the name of John Orth and departed from Austria. In February, 1890, he met Milli Stibel in London, where they were married. They set sail on the ship St. Margarita for South America. The vessel was wrecked, and nothing authoritative has been heard of Salvator since.

Every few years stories have cropped out purporting to reveal the whereabouts of the lost archduke.

Tragic Death of Wife.

As deep and long lived a grief as any borne by the emperor of sorrows came through his wife. At the outset it was a love match, and for many years the emperor and his consort were ideal-ly happy. The private lives of both always were above reproach. But as years crept upon her the Empress Elizabeth began to show the eccentricities that have beset all her line.

Austria and its emperor became distasteful to her; there were long absences, domestic scenes and gossip. Finally Elizabeth decided to make her own home and court. At an expense of $800,000 she built on the beautiful island of Corfu, in the Mediterranean, the remarkable castle of Achilleion. Beyond this sum she spent on the grounds and furnishings as much more.

The empress spent her winters, her autumns and springs at Corfu. The rest of her time she traveled. She had come from Corfu only a short time, and one day was walking in the sun on the quay at Geneva with an attendant. She was making her way along to a little boat that was to carry her to Montreux when a man darted out of a bevy, walked a moment near the empress and then stabbed her through the body with a stiletto.

She fell in a trickle of her blood. The man ran and for the time made his escape. They carried her aboard the boat, and there she died within half an hour, thrust through a vital spot with the dagger, which had been fashioned from a small fish. Within a few hours an Italian anarchist, Luigi Luceni, had been captured and confessed his crime.

Own Life Thrice Menaced.

Thrice was the life of the emperor himself attempted. In 1853 at a review in Vienna a Hungarian named Joseph Libenyi tried to cut the emperor's throat before all his troops. Francis Joseph suffered a slight wound. The man was caught on the spot. On the next day he was hanged.

In 1860 when the emperor was leaving a theater at Prague a man in the crowd tried to kill him with a pistol. Rescue came from an odd source. A British steamship engineer who chanced to be in Prague and near by subdued the assassin.

Trieste was the scene of the third attempt in 1882. Bombs were placed, but failed to do their work. The chief conspirator, Overdunk, was executed.

The venerable monarch bore many titles. The "sorrowful emperor" was one, justified by the three appalling tragedies of brother, son and wife—the brother shot in Mexico, the son slain in the mysterious tragedy of Mayerling and the wife butchered by an assassin in the year of his golden jubilee. The "reform emperor" they called him when in 1867 the idea of a centralized Austrian empire gave way to that of a dual Austro-Hungarian monarchy, consisting of an indissoluble federation of two equal states under a single sovereign, each having a constitution, government and representative parliament of its own.

The "peace monarch" he was called in reference to the function of his realm as the balance wheel of the European diplomatic machine, until the present war.

REPUBLICANS

Ohio Federation of Labor were included in the platform, which also asks for the abolishment of "unnecessary state offices and commissions," and pledges the appointment of farmers to all offices whose functions relate to the farm.

Woman suffrage is not mentioned in the platform.

The following are the principal planks relating to other subjects:

"We favor such legislation by the national congress as will provide an adequate merchant marine, extension of our trade to all parts of the world, in times of peace and will enable us, in times of war, to provide ample transportation of products of neutral countries, especially those of the Western Continent."

"We not only favor the workmen's compensation which we participated in enacting but we favor the increase in the maximum amount to be paid for death and total disability under said law.

"We favor laws for the moral protection and physical development of our women workers. We endorse the eight hour system of daily labor wherever practicable. We approve the principle of one day's rest in seven for all labor.

"We urge the enactment of laws conferring upon the Supreme court jurisdiction to revise the decisions of the secretary of state on primary election and initiative and referendum questions.

"We heartily favor the construction and maintenance of a state-wide system of good roads but we demand that the large expenditures for the purpose shall be made by the regularly-constituted authorities of each county and thereby save the great expense of a state highway department."

WILLIS INTERPRETS LIQUOR PLANK TO SUIT OWN VIEWS.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, Aug. 26.—Frank B. Willis, Republican candidate for governor today gave his interpretation of the following language in the Republican state platform:

"While the traffic in intoxicating liquor subsists in Ohio, we favor its regulation by such laws as are now, or hereafter may be enacted by the general assembly."

Mr. Willis said: "I construe this plank to mean that if the Republican party is entrusted with power in the state of Ohio, it will take no backward step on temperance legislation."

WAYNE B. WHEELER MAKES ATTEMPT TO FIND CONSOLATION.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, Aug. 26.—Commenting on the Republican platform, W. B. Wheeler, superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League said: "The law enforcement declaration of the platform is clear. It pledges the party to use all the authority provided in the constitution and statutes for the enforcement of law. This is important in view of the new method provided in the constitution and statute for removing officers who fail to enforce law."

The provision relating to existing legislation is not clear. If it means what Mr. Willis construes it to mean, it is fairly satisfactory."

"Love's Old Sweet Song"

"Music is more than mere entertainment. It begets culture and refinement and builds character. It makes life sweeter. It awakens the very depths of love, sympathy and harmony."

While seated in the twilight, the soft strains of the piano carry you off to other realms, where you forget the world and its cares and are wrapped in the thoughts and emotions which sentimental music brings—

"Just a song at twilight,
When the lights are low,
And the flickering shadows
Softly come and go."

You may think these finer emotions make little difference to you and your children, but in the long run, if you have ever experienced them once, you will then fully realize that something very important has been lacking in your home and in your life.

By the Way

Analyze a good many close friendships and you will find they are based on a mutual dislike of the same things.

Two women can have a pretty good time together if they are knocking the same person.

Nature is also compensatory to the extent that the fool never knows he's a fool.

TOO MUCH TANGO CAUSES NEURALGIA

Violent neuralgia of the head generally attacks overworked women who lack sufficient sleep, fresh air and red blood.

With the prevalent craze for dancing at all times and places it is becoming noticeable that women whose blood is thin—anaemic—become subject to neuralgic pains when they dance too much and rob themselves of sleep and open-air exercise.

The woman who makes great demands on her strength, either by overworking or overindulging, must keep her blood in condition or suffer. The pain of neuralgia is simply a sign adopted by nature to show that the nervous system is being starved because the blood no longer brings it what it needs. The one great cause of neuralgia is debility with anaemia or bloodlessness.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic for the blood and nerves. They begin at once to enrich the blood and enable it to furnish the nerves with the elements they need to restore them to health. A booklet on the home treatment of nervous disorders that will enable you to help yourself will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist can supply you with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

This would be a whole lot better world if things were arranged so that when a man lost his temper he couldn't find it again.

NO IMPROVEMENT IN CONDITION OF CARY M'MILLEN

No improvement has been noted in the condition of Cary McMillen, victim of the attack of Ezra Newlon, alleged insane man, which occurred Monday afternoon. At times McMillen returns to consciousness and asks for a drink but almost immediately sinks into unconsciousness again.

Newlon was still at large, the efforts of the police and sheriff's party Tuesday to arrest him having failed. He has found easy concealment in the heavy growth of underbrush along Flint Ridge. Officers abandoned the search and will wait until the man leaves his hiding place.

AUSTRIA DENIES SINISTER INTENT AGAINST ITALY

(Associated Press Telegram)
London, Aug. 26.—10:30 a. m.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Rome says that according to advices from Vienna, General Conrad, chief of the Austrian staff, has sent the following message to the Italian government:

"The reports published in Italy that Austria-Hungary has aggressive intentions against Italy in order to revenge itself for Italy's failure to participate in the war, are absolutely without foundation and are stigmatized as malignant efforts put forth by a third party."

VILLA SUPPORTS ARMED TROOPS IN SONORA, MEX.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Nogales, Sonora, Mex., Aug. 26.—Jose Maria Maytorena, governor of Sonora, announced today that he had come here at the head of 2,000 or more troops to dislodge "the enemies of honest government." Maytorena is supported by General Francisco Villa. Those whom he proposes to war against have the support of Carranza. Maytorena in a signed statement, declared his action was decided upon when Carranza, after having banished supporters of the governor, ignored his protests and demanded his resignation.

"I have no political ambition," Maytorena concluded. "My only wish is to serve my country and I will gladly turn my office to a duly elected successor in 1915."

WOMAN'S PRAISE OF NERV-WORTH

Resident of South Fifth Street Tells What Remedy Did For Her Shattered Nerves.

Mrs. Maggie M. Stickle of 241 South Fifth street, Newark, is another of those women who having so-called female trouble have obtained marked benefits from Nerv-Worth, the new nerve tonic being sold at the T. J. Evans Drug Store, Hotel Warden Building.

Mrs. Stickle's nerves were so much involved as to greatly affect her stomach and bowels. She says she had to "drag around the house and was down and out." Indeed, she was forced to suspend her household work.

When she had taken Nerv-Worth but two days Mrs. Stickle was so much better that she was able to go on with her household duties. Whereupon she wrote the good news to the Nerv-Worth specialist at the Evans Drug Store, and asked him to send her more of the medicine. She is anxious that all her friends and neighbors should know what Nerv-Worth has done in her case.

Some suffer in one form from nervous debility, and some in another. The symptoms are dizziness, trembling, sleeplessness, that tired draggy feeling, pains in back, side, or chest, sick or nervous headaches, indigestion, bowel trouble, low spirits, etc. Nerv-Worth over comes all these by going to their source. It is guaranteed. Your money back if it doesn't help.

STRANGER SHOT CLEVELAND MAN THEN SUICIDED

(Associated Press Telegram)
Cleveland, Aug. 26.—C. C. Hills, aged 70, secretary of a Cleveland wholesale provision company was shot and killed early today in east 43rd street by an unidentified man, who then killed himself by firing a bullet into his mouth. According to the police the assailant of Hills called at the latter's home and following an argument drew a revolver, shot Hills dead, and then turned the weapon upon himself. The motive for the shooting is not known.

The assailant of Hills was later identified as E. E. Boat, civil engineer and a friend of the dead man. Boat's mind, it is said, was affected because of ill health and loss of position.

TRIED TO SEND CODE MESSAGE; ARRESTED AS SPY

(Associated Press Telegram)

WHEAT PRICE SOARS HIGH AT CHICAGO

(Associated Press Telegram)
Chicago, Aug. 26.—Wheat today sold on the board of trade here at prices of 18 to 20 cents higher than those a year ago. On the heels of yesterday's advance of 1 cent came another at the resumption of trade today and from 2 1/8 to 3 cents more was added to the price. Wheat for delivery next month sold at $1.06. It closed last night at $1.03, and a year ago was selling at $0.85-8 cents.

The ascent, it is said, has been accelerated by purchases of the public at large—business men, normally ignorant of the numerous factors which enter into the making of prices who see a gambler's profit in the necessities caused by the great conflict in Europe. They constitute a new element in the market.

ENGLAND FEARS GERMANS DESIGN HER DOWNFALL

(Associated Press Telegram)
London, Aug. 26.—The military correspondent of the Times today says:

"We and the Dutch need have no doubt that the annexation of all the north sea ports from the Straits of Dover to Emden will follow a German success in the war—a success which would only be preliminary to the concentration of all German effort upon the subjugation of England."

SHIP NEUTRALITY ABANDONED AS FACILITIES ABOUND

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Aug. 26.—With many ocean liners resuming sailing between Europe and the United States, administration officials have abandoned the proposal that the fighting nations recognize the neutrality of ships chartered from belligerents exclusively to bring American refugees home, and it may be found unnecessary to employ any of the army transports in a relief mission.

RETURNS COMING IN VERY SLOWLY FROM CALIFORNIA

(Associated Press Telegram)
San Francisco, Aug. 26.—Returns coming in slowly from yesterday's primary have not changed the results indicated last night. John D. Fredericks, Republican, will oppose Hiram W. Johnson, incumbent. Progressive, for the governorship in the November election; that Francis J. Heney has won the Progressive nomination for United States senator and James D. Phelan, the Democratic nomination. Returns kept Sempel M. Shortridge in the lead over Joseph R. Knowland for the Republican nomination for senator.

John M. Eschelman, Progressive candidate for lieutenant governor also captured the Republican nomination.

SUPREME COURT ASKED TO ENJOIN BIG BOND ISSUE

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, Aug. 26.—The city of Cincinnati through its city solicitor Walter M. Schonele, today filed suit in the supreme court of Ohio to enjoin the sinking fund commission of Cincinnati and the trustees of the Cincinnati Southern Railway Company which is owned by the city from issuing $100,000 in bonds for the completion of terminal facilities. The suit is made on the basis that no provision is made to levy amount sufficient to pay interest and provide a sinking fund for the final redemption of the bonds as provided by the constitution of the state.

HOGAN'S OPINION ON AUTOMOBILE LAW.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, Aug. 26.—Attorney General Hogan today rendered an opinion saying that automobile dealers, motorcycle owners and chauffeurs are not affected by the section of the state automobile law which says that on or after September 1, the automobile license fee shall be reduced one half. The attorney general also handed down an opinion to the effect that it is unlawful to sell cubed cigarettes to minors under 18.

Discolored or Spotty Skin Easily Peeled Off.

The freckling, discolored or roughening to which most skins are subjected at this season may readily be gotten rid of. Mercolized wax, spread lightly over the face, before retiring and removed in the morning with soap and water, completely peels off the disfiguring skin. Get an ounce of the wax from any druggist. There's no more effective way of banishing tan, freckles or other cutaneous defects. Little skin particles come off each day, so the process itself doesn't even temporarily mar the complexion and one soon acquires a brand new, spotless, gloriously beautiful face.

Wrinkles caused by weather, worry or illness, are best treated by a simple solution of mercolized wax. Apply 2%, dissolved in 1/2 pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this produces a truly marvelous transformation.—Advertisement.

The annual meeting of the Central W. C. T. U. for election of officers will be held in First Presbyterian church, Tuesday, Sept. 18, 1914, at 2:30 p. m. Full attendance is desired. Order of President M. E. Rupert.

DEMOCRATS OF SOUTH CAROLINA DEFEAT BLEASE

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbia, S. C., Aug. 26.—Additional but incomplete returns today from all counties in the Democratic senatorial primary gave Governor Cole L. Blease 48,000 and Senator E. D. Smith 65,000 out of 117,000 votes reported. The returns seem to show Senator Smith maintaining a majority sufficient to renominate him over his three opponents. Approximately 25,000 votes are yet to be returned. Senator Smith received heavy votes in counties which two years ago went largely for Blease, and in only three of the nine counties returning complete returns did the governor receive majorities.

In the race for governor, Robert A. Cooper held a majority of about 6000 votes over Richard I. Manning and John G. Richards, his nearest opponent.
